

ANTONIO BRIEN

Back the corner before the bell. Antonio turns pro this November — sponsorship spots are open now, priced for local Hull businesses who want a real seat in his corner, not just a logo on a page.

Why local businesses back him

This is a hometown story people are already following — his training, his fight camp, his debut. Sponsors aren't buying ad space, they're joining the story early, while it's still small enough to feel personal.

Every package is built around real access: fight night, training sessions, and direct shoutouts to an audience that already trusts him.
